In my capacity as Chair, I am pleased to be able to present the 23rd Annual Report, which again reflects a strong and stable organisation. I am extremely proud of how our team responded to the COVID-19 pandemic. ANW is privileged have Caroline Downer at the helm. To all our delight, Caroline was awarded a Medal of the Order of Australia (OAM) for service to the visual and performing arts through a range of roles at the Queen's birthday honours of 2020. This was certainly our highlight of the year and an extraordinary achievement – Congratulations Caroline!

COVID-19 had a huge impact on the arts sector; however, with Caroline's creative thinking in response to the pandemic, Arts North West rolled out a micro grants initiative. The initiative resulted in the offering of 23 Quick Response Micro Grants of up to $1,000 for independent professional practicing artists across all art forms, designed to support the continuation of local community arts and cultural practice across our region. The project was such a success that other NSW Regional Art Development Organisations modelled our project in their regions.

The upcoming 12 months will be challenging – there is still much uncertainty – but we are responding quickly to the changing habits and needs of our members. We have proven how flexible we can be, and we will continue to tackle any challenges decisively and proactively to ensure we position our organisation to remain strong into the future, enabling us to continue supporting our members with an authentic, personalised service.

I would like to acknowledge and give thanks to our Executive Director Caroline Downer as well as staff members, Chris McIntosh, Christine Davis, Hayley Clark, Lorrayne Fishenden, Michael Burge, Michèle Jedlicka and Stephanie McIntosh for their expertise, passion and innovative manner with which they delivered our many various programs throughout the year.

I also wish to formally recognise the contributions of all board members and Strategic Advisory Council (SAC) members who have faced the challenges in front of them without wavering. Their focus and diligence around ensuring that good decisions are made is greatly appreciated. Special thanks is given to Chris Newbigin for his contributions to ANW over the last 19 years. On behalf of the Board, SAC and staff, I wish Chris all the best in his future endeavours and anticipated relocation. Thanks also to Hayley Ward and Sally Blackwood who are leaving the Board, following their appointments in 2018.

We appreciate the support from our major funding organisation Create NSW and our peak body, Regional Arts NSW. We also acknowledge the contributions made by our participating councils and look forward to working with them again during 2021 to further enrich the cultural landscapes of their communities.

Finally, I acknowledge the support of all members. Many of you will be facing difficult times. Thank you for your continued support. Our united goal of a vibrant arts and cultural landscape creating healthy and sustainable and connected communities in the New England North West of NSW remains the ANW focus.

Anna Watt Chair, Arts North West

> FROM THE CHAIR

Certainly 2020 proved to be a very challenging and unusual year. With the COVID-19 pandemic having an enormous negative impact on the arts sector, Arts North West focussed on initiatives that could support our community at this difficult time.

Our website became a central point of advice – from working from home resources, information on event cancellation, to health and wellbeing and some COVID-19 distractions. Many of our professional development workshops and advice sessions went online in the first half the year.

We also rolled out three new initiatives:

1. The Panorama Project – delivered during the early months of the pandemic when many were in isolation, this was designed as a creative project that was undertaken individually but was part of a wider collaborative community. One thousand sketchbooks were sent out across the region for creatives to fill in with their artwork and ideas. Many of these sketchbooks were then returned to Arts North West and are now form part of an exhibition travelling to small libraries in our region in 2021.

2. Captain Isobolt and the Great COVID Crises of 2020 - a series of 5 short videos - a light-hearted spoof developed by Arts North West with pandemic and New England North West references. This was targeted to community theatre practitioners who were unable to put on their shows in 2020

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

3. ANW Micro Grants – a simple quick turnaround small grant to support creative endeavours. We supported 23 projects with different artforms, and across our region.

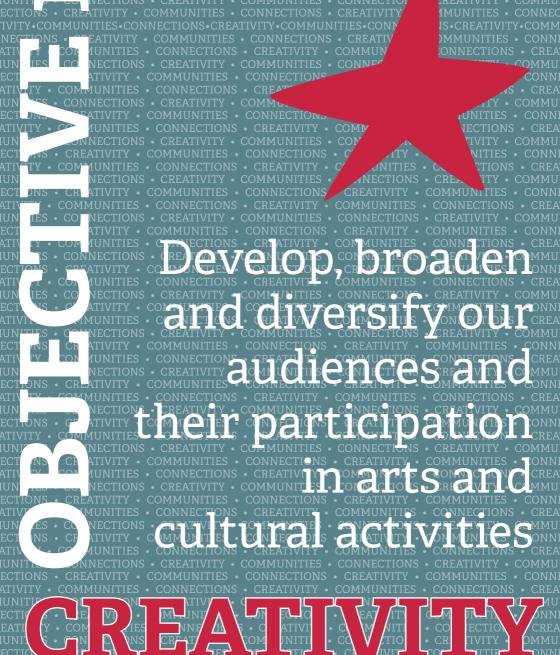

I am very proud of the efforts of ANW in 2020 – we were able to prove that we are indeed a very flexible and nimble organisation that can respond to the significant issues that face our sector and our community. I want to particularly thank the ANW team this year – Stephanie McIntosh, Michèle Jedlicka, Christine Davis, Chris McIntosh, Michael Burge, Lorrayne Fishenden and Hayley Clark. Their commitment, enthusiasm and perseverance in a year that was topsyturvy was very impressive.

An extraordinary year.

Caroline Downer, OAM
Executive Director, Arts North West

Arts North West contracts 2 Rivers Pty Ltd to manage projects in its Aboriginal Cultural Support Program. Lorrayne Fishenden provides advice and assistance for Aboriginal artists within our region and regularly offers professional development opportunities through project funding. We also thank Makishia Felton, Ros Riggs, Pene Riggs and Loren Ryan for all their work behind-the-scenes at 2 Rivers keeping track of our many Aboriginal projects.

A grant from the Federal Government has allowed Arts North West to continue Lorrayne's employment to 30 June 2021 to support the delivery of the ANW NENW Aboriginal Arts Strategy. This funding supports and fosters Aboriginal artists in the New England North West of NSW by engaging an Aboriginal Arts Officer for Arts North West. Funded by Indigenous Visual Arts Industry Support (IVAIS)

Creative Projects in the Aboriginal Cultural Support Program included:

YESTERDAY TODAY TOMORROW:

Documenting stories from key sites in the North West of NSW. Six emerging Kamilaroi artists were mentored to develop works inspired by Country, culminating in public exhibitions held at the Inverell Art Gallery, Ray Walsh House, Tamworth, and Dhiiyaan Centre Moree. Films are on the ANW website.

ABORIGINAL CULTURAL SUPPORT PROGRAM

Supported by the Federal Government through Indigenous Languages and the Arts.

YINAAR: A creative exploration of Women's Business in the New England North West. The project is informed by documented research into traditional Songlines and storytelling of women's practices, and with key engagement with our Aboriginal Elders, Knowledge Holders and Community. COVID-19 delayed project delivery and expectations of consultation and outcomes were scaled back. In the light of this, an extensive review of the project plan, and detailed work on the cultural protocols was undertaken. Funded by the Australia Council for the Arts.

PORTFOLIO PROMOTION PITCH:

An initiative for 6 young emerging Aboriginal visual artists in the New England North West to develop their arts practice through PD workshops, mentoring and networking. Some workshops went ahead in 2020 in early March but the final project was extended and varied to comply with COVID-19 restrictions. An e-resource for Aboriginal artists pitching their work to galleries was developed and is on the ANW website.

Multiple ANWOT tours were negotiated for the network in 2020, although only one was able to go ahead before the COVID-19 pandemic caused widespread lockdowns.

What's New Pussycat? was a joyous, foot-stamping, hand-clapping celebration of the Swingin' Sixties. It was performed by Australia's favourite cabaret duo at Gunnedah, Quirindi and Tenterfield.

Once the performing arts venues of the New England North West went dark, like theatres across the world, touring coordinator Michael Burge worked with our network members to reschedule all ANWOT's 2020 tours into 2021. This was achieved with a great amount of flexibility by everyone involved. Only one tour ultimately got cancelled due to WA-based Spare Parts Puppet Theatre ceasing all interstate touring across 2021.

To encourage performing arts venues to stay open, when NSW health orders allowed for 50% audience capacity, ANWOT promoted a hybrid of our mainstage and Pocket Productions touring strands and engaged a regional company to tour a community-building comedy.

POCKET PRODUCTIONS continues to address the need in our region for small-scale, bespoke productions and musical acts to tour to regional venues that do not have a dedicated performing arts venue. A successful tour of Country Witches Association was mounted in November 2020 and played Bonshaw, Gunnedah, Quirindi, Deepwater and Tenterfield.

A network meeting for ANWOT was held online on April 8; and at Gunnedah's Civic Theatre on November 4, giving representatives an opportunity to interact with their regional colleagues and discuss pertinent issues, share successes and assess failures.

Across August and September, Michael Burge joined the Australian Performing Arts Exchange (APAX) online conference and pitch sessions, noting tour-ready works for ANWOT's 2022-2023 seasons.

ARTS NORTH WEST ON TOUR (ANWOT) IS A REGIONAL NETWORK OF SMALL-TO-MEDIUM PERFORMING ARTS VENUES IN THE NEW ENGLAND NORTH WEST COORDINATED BY ARTS NORTH WEST.

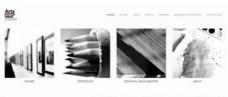

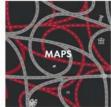

The focus in 2020 was building a new website for ANW Connect. The new layout has been separated into sections to capture the myriad of talents and skills in the region, arts and cultural venues, artists portfolios, arts workers registry, comprehensive maps, and events. Arts North West Connect is a valuable resource for the entire New England North West region- the most comprehensive database of all things creative and cultural in the region, disguised as a new snazzy and sleek website. To create some content around individual artists we have been working with some emerging artists to develop a portfolio webpage which can be used as their main point of online contact for their arts practice. It includes a biography, artist statement, images, social media presence. www.artsnwconnect.com.au

Due to ongoing COVID-19 restrictions, the physical Art Connections Art Trail planned for November was replaced with an Online Arts Connections Market Place on the new Arts North West Connect website for the month of December. Two professional development workshops were run by Michael Burge in the lead up to the Market Place, to equip Arts North West Connect members with the skills to set up a simple online shop.

The Panorama Project was a collective arts activity, engaging hundreds of people across the New England North Westfrom the places they call home. It started with a small. personal sketchbook, delivered to each participant, and ended as a travelling exhibition of all the sketchbooks, transformed by the breadth of imagination, talent, and voices of this vast region. This project gave a rare opportunity for a wide audience to understand the perspectives of people in North West though imagery, colour and media, while capturing a moment in time, and serves a kind of visual historical document of this challenging time. Ten artists were paid a small artist fee to participate. The tour comprises over 20 libraries in the ANW footprint.

Captain Isobolt and the Great COVID Crises of 2020 is a set of 5 short videos engaging community theatre practitioners in the New England North West. Enthusiastic dramaturgs in our region created this slightly crazy spoof which was released on our social media channels.

www.artsnw.com.au/captain-isobolt

Wytaliba Creative Recovery Project was a partnership with the Glen Innes Pottery Club in the delivery of a bushfire recovery project in the community of Wytaliba. Workshop "Earth for your Heart.h" was based on slab building domestic ware with simple slip, stamp and glaze decoration. A slab roller was also purchased for the community.

Art Word Place exhibition curated by Caroline Downer for Artstate Tamworth 2019 which explored the interaction between writers and artists from all 12 LGAs of our region, toured to 2 venues in 2020 – Regional Australia Institute in Canberra, and the Gunnedah Civic Gallery.

ANW Micro Grants were offered in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Quick Response Micro Grants of up to $1.000 for independent professional practising artists across all art forms, community groups and arts organisations were designed to support the continuation of locally determined community arts and cultural practice in uncertain times. Arts North West Micro Grant funding aimed to be as flexible as possible. 23 projects were funded over 2 rounds and included live music, visual arts residencies, arts and disability theatre as well as literature. A very a positive project during the pandemic, this has allowed ANW to raise its profile across the region.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT WORKSHOPS

ANW looked at various ways to deliver its professional development workshops in 2020, as face-to-face proved difficult in the first half of the year. We redeveloped our grant writing workshops into a suite of 11 unique short video animations which were released through our social media platforms. They can also be viewed on our website at www. artsnw.com.au/anw-eresources#/ top-ten-tips-to-grant-writing. This initiative was supported by UNE. Continuing this theme, new eResources were developed "How to Pitch" and "The Arts Marketer's Handbook"— they are valuable tools for creatives in our region and are available on the ANW website.

Finally a number of 'boutique' workshops on specialised topics were delivered at the request of our stakeholders.

NETWORKS AND PARTNERSHIPS

ANW continues to manage a number of networks including Visual Arts, Writers, Enable Arts, Film NENW, ANW Connect, Museums New England North West, Aboriginal Artists and Arts North West ON TOUR.

Two key partnerships with Tamworth Regional Gallery and the New England Regional Art Museum in Armidale allowed for Arts North West to raise its profile in the region. Caroline Downer curated two exhibitions-Rosamund Greig's Sunny and Make your Mark a selection of works from the NERAM Collection.

ANW also partnered with the Australia Council for the Arts on their Arts Leadership Exchange as part of their broader Arts Leadership Program. Held at the Tamworth Regional Gallery in February, Caroline provided a written piece for the Arts

Leaders on Climate Change in the New England North West.
